Sophia and her friends

Sophia Defwoof, the titular character

- Sophia is a 27 year old woman who has characteristics of a dog. In other words: She's an anthropomorphic dog

- While she was alive, she had white fur, brown eyes, wore a white tank top with a logo of her favorite band, wore black boots and gray pants, along with a spiked bracelet on her right wrist. Alongside working as an employee as an inventory stocker for a fashion store that sold various clothes like emo, punk, and urban.

- After being dead for a while and risen as an undead thanks to her necklace as a gift, her fur is now light blue, her sclera (the whites in her eyes) is yellow, along with her pupils being pitch black instead of her orange eye color. As well with her clothes looking more tattered, scratched, and bloodied up from that one fatal car accident.

- Sophia is usually the introverted type of the main trio since she prefers to be alone at times whenever she’s not busy helping out these customers and/or with other people.

- Her main goal in the story is to find out more about what this necklace is capable of and what hidden powers it holds whenever she's not working, along with helping out her workplace compete with their competitor that they're facing.

Anna Softpaw, the athletic cat

- Anna is a 29 year old cat woman

- She has yellow with white freckles fur around her body, wears a green sweater and shoes, and has brown sweat pants, along with having purple eyes.

- She's the opposite of Sophia where she's more of an extrovert than her, but respects Sophia's space whenever she wants some alone time. Especially with being more social with other people she comes across.

- Anna likes various sports like tracking, fencing, and archery. But her favorite is fencing and tracking because it helps become more agile and more quick on her paws.

- Anna’s main goal is to be Sophia’s swordsman in the group to fight these monsters of the week and eventually find a way to end this chaos. Along with eventually becoming a successful athletic cat woman one day in the Olympic scene.

Jake Mouse Oz.

- Jake is 31 years old mouse man
- He has brown fur, wears a cyan flannel shirt, dark blue jeans, and brown boots.
- Jake’s a nerdy, but lovable guy who’d like to share his interest to one another that are in the same topic as him. His main interests are composing music and collecting vintage music around the 60s-00s
- His main goal is to become a musician one day to make his music pieces and successful hits. As for helping out Sophia, he’s thinking about getting help to invent some weapons for him like an axe guitar that’s designed for combat and music blast in mind.
